Overseas Prosecutorial Development Assistance and Training (OPDAT) Judicial course observation

- OPDAT's programs are part of the Department of Justice's two-pronged law enforcement strategy: first, an operational prong, targeting transnational criminal organizations; and second, a capacity-building prong, designed to increase the ability of our foreign counterparts to investigate and prosecute these criminal groups before their criminal activities reach the United States. These two prongs are mutually reinforcing: the partnerships and skills we build through our capacity-building efforts— development of legislative frameworks, case-based mentoring, and a train-the-trainer approach to instruction— greatly strengthen our vital operational work. OPDAT coordinates these efforts with the U.S. interagency, the international donor community, and with relevant international experts.
